PROGRESS WITH TARIFF BILL

FIRST FORMAL READING CON-CLUDED IN THE SENATE.

On Monday It Will Be Read by Paragraphs for Amendment-Objections to Several Schedules, Which Went Over for Future Consideration.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The first formal reading of the tariff bill was concluded in the Senate late this afternoon, and on motion of Senator Aldrich an adjournment was taken until Monday. Mr. Aldrich gave notice that on Monday he would ask that the bill be read by paragraphs for amendment.

The progress made with the bill today was a surprise, in view of the situation developed yesterday, when several Republican Senators criticized the measure. There were no long speeches. although Senator Bacon made some observations on a few of the schedules and Senators Clay and Newlands gave intimation of future opposition to the admission of Philippines sugar free of NEW GENERALS AT MANILA. Many objections were made, and under the previous arrangement the paragraphs to which exceptions were taken went over for future consideration. The silk schedule was passed without objection, as was the wine, and spirits schedule. Most of the rates on agricultural products were accepted without serious opposition. The items of the lumber schedule were objected to generally by Senators Sim-

Very few reservations were made in the free list. Senator Burkett objected to free art, Senator Burton expressed a desire for a tax on tapioca, Senator Gam-ble balked at free tin ore and its products. Senator Piles insisted that a duty be laid on shrimps and Senator Oliver of Penn-sylvania reserved the paragraph relating to oils for future consideration.

Senator Root to-day introduced an amendment increasing the duty on hops from 15 to 20 cents a pound. Senator Guggenheim presented amendments to increase the duty on crude and ground or calcined gypsum and on zinc in blocks or pigs from one cent to one and one-half cents a pound.

to the Founders. Commemorative exercises for the Baron and Baroness De Hirsch were held yesterday morning in the assembly room of the Educational Alliance by the Baron De Hirach School in English for Immigrant Children.

Mrs. Julia Richman, who presided, made an address on the life and work of the founders of the school, and read retter from Isidore Straus, who was detained. He expressed great admiration for the manner in which these two benefactors of Jewish immigrants spent so much time and thought in planning how best their generous gifts could be used for the benefit of those whom they wished to aid. He enjoined upon the young people the duty of gratitude.

The pupils sang patriotic songs in excellent English and saluted the flag with enthusiasm. Several of the girls recited selections from Psalms and Proverbs, and one of them read a poem on the Baroness. The persons who had simply come De Hirsch School in English for Immi-

There were about 200 at the dinner. Miss Tarbell was the only woman at the speakers' table. Others there were former Representative James T. McCleary, Prof. Jenks of Cornell, Leslie M. It is idle to talk of a 'scientific tariff,' because when the political organization is Democratic the tariff will in part be determined not by economic experts but by the pressure of business interest. And I am whole heartedly opposed to it.

Everything published in the newspapers yesterday and to-day was presented to the attention of the court more than a week ago at the request of the Justices, who vanted to know if the District Attorney had anything on which the Justices might take action. When the last meeting of the dustices was held we were informed that the District Attorney was not yet through with his investigation and the suggestion was made that he did not desire the Justices take any action until he had completed his investigation. For that reason no action was taken. Mr. Jerome has seen fit to try these cases in the newspapers, publishing but one side-his indictment of the clerk' office-and to my personal knowledge that has been done in certain respects in a manner most unfair, to some of the administrative force at least.

The reference to the Justice who used subordinates in the clerk's office for work not essentially pertaining to the "work not essentially pertaining to the work of the court" is said to mean Mr. Jerome himself. The District Attorney while a Justice of Special Sessions made a number of raids on gambling houses and held court where he raided. Some of the Special Sessions employees accompanied him in these raids. Mr. Jerome is at present at his home in Lakeville, Conn., and Assistant District Attorney Whiteside, who made the investigation and report, would not comment upon Justice Olmsted's remarks.
